ELECTROSAVAGE

Ian Martusewicz | guitar + synthesis + sequencing

The Electrosavage generates an unholy marriage of all things savage and electric, both live and in the lab. Ian's motivation is rooted in creating euphonic melodies, blended with entrancing sibilations, and he's inspired by musicians from various genres, including the worlds of jazz, dance, dub, electronica, garage, and others. Utilizing a multitude of effects pedals and sequencers allows him to synthesize original and exotic sounds in an unorthodox fashion.

TOMACHINE

Tom Tarchine | drums + effects + sampling

Catalyzed by live effects experimentation during his tenure in BOMBMOB (2010-2015, alongside guitarist Electrosavage), Tom Tarchine has played various styles of music as both a drummer and bassist. Past projects include Woodstock ambiental/experimental instrumental group 1900 (Kadir Yucel, Paul Hilzinger), and Brooklyn/Clevo punk weirdos WOLFDOWNERS (Paul Schlacter, Aaron Melnick, Bourbon Zeigler).
